Care@Work November "Senior Sense"
The Sandwich Generation: Strategies for Caregivers
Are you juggling the care of your parents and children while trying to focus on your job too? If so, you are probably in the caregiving sandwich and you’re not alone. Nearly half of adults ages 40-59 are caring for both aging parents and children which can be emotionally, physically and financially challenging. Is there a way to manage it all without feeling guilty and depleted? The answer is yes, but you’ll need support both at home and at work.

This seminar will address:
• Practical strategies to help manage daily challenges
• Supports to help both at home and at work
• Ways to take care of yourself
November 13th | 11:30am – 12:30pm
On-Site Seminar and WebEx

GSD Exhibitions, a part of the overall Communications Department, works with our students and faculty to transform the public spaces throughout Gund Hall, and occasionally beyond our building as well. We rotate a set of defined spaces twice a semester and we conclude the academic year by activating all of these spaces for the Commencement exhibition.

For years we’ve worked with a variety of freelancers to provide museum level art-handling, preparatory, and light construction work as part of GSD Exhibitions. What makes these projects unique is how rare the opportunity is for designers to show their work coupled with the digitization of design processes. Together, this means that our GSD Exhibitions installation team are in fact more like a prototype team, actually creating final content in the form of wallpaper, panels, text blocks, and built forms.

Following updates to the HUCTW contract, we created new roles for this work and we’re delighted that the current team is now part of our GSD bi-weekly staff. Combined, we have over 100 years of Exhibition making experience on GSD projects alone and it’s a real honor to work together with this community to continuously transform the public space throughout Gund Hall with the most compelling and exceptional content from our students and faculty.

Living with Wild Turkeys
Wild turkeys are an important natural resource in Massachusetts. Turkeys thrive close to humans in suburban and urban areas. If you want to make your property less attractive to turkeys, follow these basic practices:

- DON'T FEED TURKEYS: Keep wildlife wild! Feeding, whether direct or indirect, can cause turkeys to act tame and may lead to bold or aggressive behavior, especially in the breeding season.
- KEEP BIRD FEEDER AREAS CLEAN: Use feeders designed to keep seed off the ground as the seed attracts turkeys and other wild animals.
- DON'T LET TURKEYS INTIMIDATE YOU: Don't hesitate to scare or threaten a bold, aggressive turkey with loud noises, swatting with a broom or water sprayed from a hose. A dog on a leash is also an effective deterrent.
- COVER WINDOWS AND SHINY OBJECTS: Turkeys may respond aggressively to shiny objects and their own reflection. If a turkey is pecking at a shiny object, cover or disguise the object.
- PROTECT YOUR GARDENS AND CROPS: You can harass turkeys searching for food in your gardens. Dogs tethered on a run can be effective in scaring turkeys away from gardens. Netting is another option to employ. In agricultural situations, some scare devices are effective.
